Notable features:

Number 914 is boarded up but may be being used by Cowan's Funeral Home. It is the last remnant of the dense collection of houses of the mid-nineteenth century which filled this block until the school was built in 1967. Number 910/912 is a new and well-kept garage for Cowan Undertakers across Hollins Street.

These buildings and the parking lot could remain, but they are unsightly. The garage represents a considerable investment: the parking is a requirement of Cowan's business. They mar the St. Peter's environment.

Environmental context:

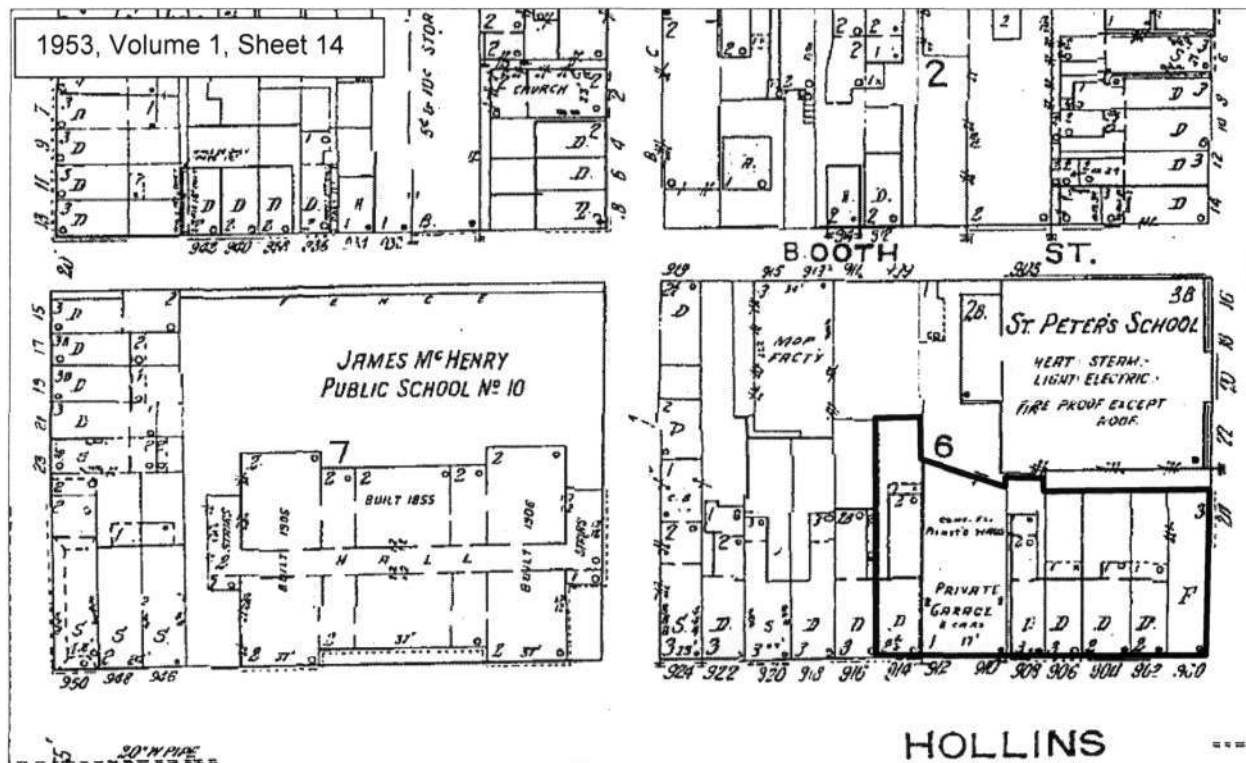

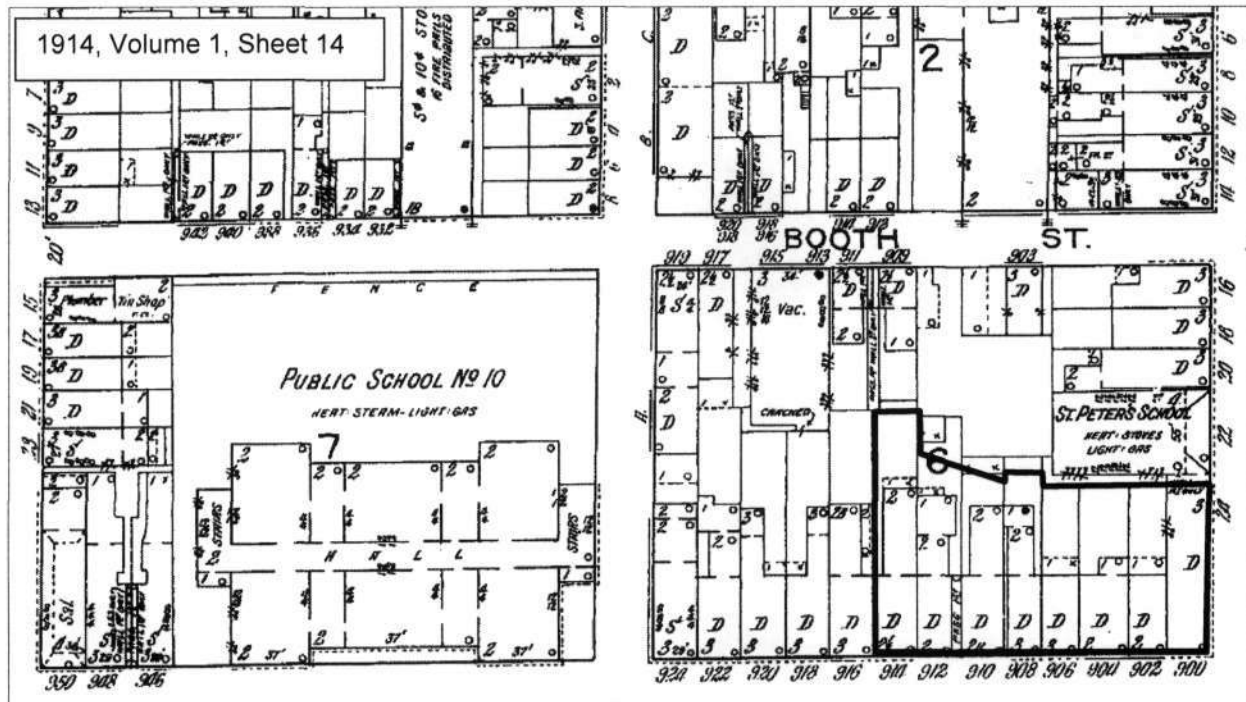

Number 914 is vacant and lot 52 at 900/908 is a large parking lot for the undertaker across-street at 901/905 Hollins Street. The solid asphalt field west of these buildings and the barren parking lot need landscape design attention.
